

Hylan Attacks Aim of Ruston's Market Probe

Mayor, Replying to Request for Seizure of O'Malley Books, Hints Feathering of His Political Nest

'Mind Business,' Attitude

Kings Prosecutor Is Told City Officials Can and Will Handle Own Affairs

Mayor Hylan dictated over the long-distance telephone yesterday a reply to the letter, forwarded to Saratoga, from John E. Ruston, District Attorney of Kings County, in which Mr. Ruston urged immediate seizure of all records in the Department of Markets, recommended an immediate investigation of the department and indicated a belief that failure to take prompt action in impounding the documents might result in tampering with them.

The Mayor questions the good faith of Mr. Ruston, referring to his demands as "suspicious" and charging him with having delayed the investigation planned by Commissioner of Accounts Hirschfeld, and in general effect tells the District Attorney to mind his own business.

Mayor Hylan's Reply

The Mayor's answer to Mr. Ruston's letter reads:

"Your letter of August 24, 1922, in reference to pushcart peddlers' markets, has been brought by my secretary to my attention while on a few days' vacation. Your sudden feverish anxiety on this matter is very suspicious. You have been pottering around with this subject for over two months and suddenly burst into print when you learn that I am to be away from the city for a day or two, although much of these two months you have been sojourning in the Hamptons and Long Island.

"You ask that records of the Department of Markets be taken possession of at once. The duly authorized officials of the city have possession of them and they are where they ought to be, in so far as they are required to be kept by law. You ask particularly with reference to counties other than the County of Kings. You may well confine your political activities on this subject to the County of Kings and leave it to the officials of counties outside your jurisdiction to do their duty without suggesting to you.

"To be sure they are not, like you, engaged in a canvass for re-election and hence are not properly chargeable with prostituting the process of the grand jury to political purposes, and are not chargeable with permitting grand jury evidence to be leaked from the grand jury room to certain newspapers in violation of Sections 1782 and 1783 of the penal law. The evidence of this is in your hand and it may be the person or persons guilty are within your immediate reach. You need no aid on this other than the use of your own faculties.

Profiteers Adversely Affected

"I am firm in the belief that the grand jury of Kings County will not permit you to use them as an instrument for political propaganda in your interest or in the interest of food profiteers who are advancing their cause by the existence of pushcart open air markets, selling foodstuffs at low prices in the poorer sections of the city, or in the interest of their traction sympathizers, newspaper and otherwise.

"You well know that the system in vogue is a makeshift system, temporarily in existence for the purpose of accomplishing their object in the advance of their being put on a permanent basis. The delay in putting them on a permanent basis arises, as you well know, from the fact that the tax limit laid to be observed in the making up the budget and for that reason new activities were excluded from it.

"The fact that the Mayor committee, after two months of lounging around in the same material on which you have been busy yourself for the past two months, were unable to establish any violation of law in the market, makes it clear that the sufficient evidence that no such violation can be established that would withstand analysis by an impartial judge, makes the malvolent ingenuity of the Mayor committee could not devise even a technical or far-fetched violation of law in the premises upon which to hang a criminal charge long enough to last over election.

Will Tolerate No Corruption

"You will know that no real corruption will be tolerated by me in this or any other department. You know that alteration of records would furnish an easier basis for a prosecution than any other act of omission the records themselves in the department might tend to prove. No one in any of the departments will dare to do other than maintain the records required to be kept by law in their proper condition, reachable by subpoena, under proper auspices, especially since the Commissioner of Accounts under a direction given him months ago has been in connection with and had control over all these records in the department, than Kings. Your request is consequently unnecessary and months too late.

"You have had access to everything in the Department of Markets. You have used your two months' meandering in the Market Department as a means of delaying investigation by the Commissioner of Accounts. Now, after waiting all this time for political purposes, you implore me, to use your own language, to 'instigate a real investigation,' through the Commissioner.

The implication involved in your language is correct with respect to yourself—that a 'real investigation' cannot be made by you. The best that could result would be what you have already done—a political investigation with public announcements as its product.

Obstructing Activities

"In good time these markets will be put on a permanent basis. Such unwelcome methods as may have crept into the temporary organization will be rectified as a result of co-operation by the commissioner of accounts with the Department of Markets and the Law Department of the city. This will be hastened by your completing your investigation so that it cannot be falsely said any of these officials are obstructing their activities.

Commissioner Hirschfeld's summons requiring W. L. Hundertmark, secretary of the New York Market Gardeners' Association, to appear before him for examination, which the commissioner announced had been issued three days ago, was received by Mr. Hundertmark last night at his home in Passaic, N. J., following publication in The Tribune of a denial from Mr. Hundertmark that such a summons had been received by him. In connection with his denial he charged wholesale corruption in the administration of Gansevoort and Wallabout markets. The hearing is set for Wednesday at 10 a. m.

"I am prepared to furnish Commissioner Hirschfeld with fifteen sworn statements of farmers and market gardeners using Gansevoort and Wallabout markets," said Hundertmark. "In addition we will supply him with the names of scores who are anxious to testify regarding graft in the city markets. My hope and that of my associates is that the investigation will be a real one, going to the root of the trouble. No mere surface scratching will serve. The trouble with the system is fundamental. This can be demonstrated only by examination of witnesses qualified to testify as to corruption and maladministration out of their own experiences."

2 Charge Policeman Offered Tickets or Summons to Court

One Complainant Alleges That Cycle Officer Fired Upon Him in His Zealous Sales Enthusiasm

Patrolman John Farrell, of the City Island Station, has been such a successful salesman of tickets for the annual police games that the rest of the force has been wondering for weeks how he does it.

Some say it is the voice with the smile that has made every one who travels the Boston Post Road dig into his pocket when Farrell runs along side on his motorcycle, but two men are preparing to appear in Morrisania Court to-morrow to allege that the voice suggesting a summons has a lot more to do with the big sales. The speed censor is threatened with charges of oppression and felonious assault for his alleged method of disposing of seats.

The first plaintiff will be Arthur Romano, of 2453 Cambrelling Avenue, the Bronx, who declared when Farrell took him into court yesterday for driving on the wrong side of the road that the charge was false and that it was "framed" when he displayed five tickets for the game and said he saw no reason for buying more. Farrell, he alleges, offered him the choice of paying for the tickets or taking a summons. He chose the latter.

The second plaintiff will be Sherman Billingsley, a wealthy contractor, living at 2636 University Avenue, the Bronx, who came along while Farrell was handing out the summons to Romano. He charges that the cycle policeman followed him, fired a bullet into the rear of his car, narrowly missing Mrs. Billingsley, and then served him with a summons for driving forty miles an hour. When he was stopped, Billingsley declared, upon being arraigned yesterday, he was going up the low side.

Both Romano and Billingsley have retained Frank Houlihan, a Bronx attorney, to represent them to-morrow in preferring charges against Farrell.

Brooklyn Subway Flooded

Clogged sewers at Montague and Court streets, Brooklyn, flooded the sidewalks yesterday morning when a heavy shower came up about 9 o'clock. The water cascaded down the steps of the Borough Hall subway station and stood at a depth of two or three inches on the mezzanine platform.

Passengers were unable to reach the ticket booth without splashing through water, and congestion on the dry side of the spreading puddle became so great that the station was closed temporarily. Within half an hour the condition was relieved.

During the storm the B. R. T. opened the tunnel between Centre Street and Broadway, in Manhattan, for the convenience of passengers transferring at that point. It has been closed for some time by order of the Public Service Commission.
